Fishing For More

- 1.) The film opens with the quote that 'Time is a river flowing from our past'. What do you think that means?
- 2.) Certainly the film has much to say about issues of acceptance and justice. Why do you think Del Toro opted to focus on the love between a woman and a 'monster'?
- 3.) Do you think that love causes a spiritual awakening? Why/why not?
- 4.) What sort of image of God does the 'Beast' portray? Why do you think Strickland fears him so much?
